A SUCCESSFUL ENTERTAINMENT.
The concert given in Robertson Hall last night by the Edmonton Orchestra assisted by the Black Diamond Minstrel troups was most successful. Every seat in the hall was taken up and standing room was at a premium. The orchestra discoursed most beautiful music under the able management of Mr. Walt Clark, and the program was interspersed with jokes and songs on local characters by the minstrel circles under the direction of Geo. McLaughlin, Interlocutor. The program was as follows:—

PART I.
1—Grand ensemble. The Wilmark Minstrel Overture and Opening Chorus—By the Circle with full orchestra.

Special mention should be made of the violin solo by Miss Phillips and the trombone solo by H. V. Shaw. Mr. Smith's playing of the bones was one of the best features of the program. Messrs. Milne Brown and Brant were especially funny and the Telephone Act received vigorous applause. The program ended with a cleverly executed cake walk.

Messrs. Clark and Johnson are to be congratulated on bringing the entertainment to such a successful issue. The proceeds amounted to $175.

FROM OTTAWA.
April 16, 1903.
Bulletin Correspondence.

Yesterday was private members day in the House and a large amount of private legislation was advanced in stage. The most important matter that came up for discussion was that of fixing responsibility for railway accidents. Attention was drawn to the especially large number of such accidents within recent months, by E. F. Clarke, of Toronto. He suggested the possibility that railway employees were overworked or underpaid, and that the railways were undermanned.

Hon. Mr. Blair said that the Government intended to appoint an officer with full authority to make efficient inquiry as to the cause of accidents. Such an office existed in England, in connection with the Board of Trade. A permanent appointment would be made as soon as the Government could secure the services of a suitable man. A comparison was made between the terrible loss of life which had occurred in Canada within the year, and the fact that in Great Britain during the same period not a single fatality had occurred among passengers. There seemed to be a general agreement of opinion that too much was expected of railway employees who necessarily worked at high pressure. An instance was given by Hon. Mr. Blair of an accident which occurred on the Intercolonial, in which an experienced engineer who saw the signals gave an excuse for the accident, that at the moment his mental powers failed him. Today Hon. Mr. Blair will make the budget announcement.

The railway committee also holds its first important business meeting today.

AGRICULTURAL INSTITUTE MEETING.
The agricultural institute meeting which was to have taken place in the council chamber yesterday afternoon, and, addressed by T. N. Willing, Territorial chief-inspector of Noxious Weeds, and by Geo. Harcourt, B.S.A., Territorial Superintendent of Societies and Fairs, failed to materialize. Only half a dozen farmers put in an appearance. Seeding operations and the condition of the roads kept many away. They will address a meeting in Fort Saskatchewan today and another at Clover Bar Thursday.

AN OPEN LETTER

To the Builders of Edmonton District.

Gentlemen: No doubt you have heard and read in the papers recently a great deal about the so-called "LUMBER COMBINE," and the consequent advance of prices. This connection a few statements of fact from us may be in order.

The manufacturers of British Columbia advise us that the advance in prices is due to the increased cost of labor and of materials and that this justifies the advanced prices to the trade. Whether this is true or not we are not in a position to judge.

But we do know that it is very difficult to get orders for B. C. lumber filled with any degree of promptness. Many of the mills are sold out of stock and cannot at present ship a car. We therefore claim that the advanced prices are due to scarcity of lumber.

The price of any commodity is regulated in our day not so much by the cost of production as by the general demand for the commodity.

As to our own prices we beg to say that we are careful to see that they bear a right relation to cost. We cannot help the rise in B. C. lumber, because the cost price is considerably advanced. But in the lines of our own manufacture such as Windows, Doors, Frames, etc., our prices are lower than the prices for the same articles either in British Columbia or Manitoba. This will indicate to you our position in this matter.

In view of the scarcity referred to if you are building or intend to do so, we advise you to place your order with us as soon as possible so that we may get in a position to fill it when required. We promise to do the very best for our customers that circumstances will permit.

Very Truly Yours,

ALBERTA FOR DAIRYING

The chinook wind is the great climatic feature which distinguishes the western from the eastern part of the North-West Territories. Although Alberta, lying along the base of the Rocky Mountains, is necessarily at a much higher altitude than the Red River Valley, and for a great deal of its extent is a much more northerly latitude; it enjoys a much milder winter climate, and this winter mildness extends for hundreds of miles, northerly along the base of the mountains into latitudes which in the more easterly parts of the Territories and in Eastern Canada, are noted for their severe winter cold. It is a well established fact that not only is agriculture practically possible in summer up to the 60th parallel of north latitude, along the eastern slope of the Rockies, but the winter climate up to the same latitude, compares very favorably, with that of the settled districts of the provinces of Ontario and Quebec respectively, according to locality. This country lying along the base of the mountains, within the influence of the westerly or chinook wind, is known as the chinook belt. Because of its high elevation and mild winter it enjoys a pre-eminence in its exceptional pasturage and suitable climate for the successful rearing of cattle. In some parts it is good for grain as well as for cattle; in all parts it is pre-eminently the cattle country of Canada.

The chinook or westerly wind, which is the cause of these especially favorable climatic conditions, differs from the westerly wind which blows off the North Atlantic, carries the warmth and moisture of the Gulf Stream over the high latitudes of Northern Europe. The chinook arises in the warmer waters of the North Pacific; but being intercepted in its easterly course by the mountain ranges of British Columbia, of which the Rockies are the last, loses its moisture amongst the mountain peaks, and reaches the great plains, dry as well as warm, and the warmer because of being dry. The chinook then, is not merely a wind, it is a dry, warm easterly wind. Its effect upon the climate of the country which it reaches is that which could not be more marked, especially in winter, because it not only tends to thaw the snow, but also causes it to evaporate. Therefore a thaw in the chinook belt does not mean the slush and mud which necessarily accompany a thaw in any other part of the world. Lying along the base of the mountains, the chinook belt is at a higher elevation than the great plains further east. That higher elevation and the dryness of the atmosphere, together with the longer summer and milder winter, produces a quality of pasturage and favorable conditions generally, which are not duplicated in the world for the rearing of stock. Health, vigor, large growth and fine quality are the characteristics of Alberta cattle reared in any part of the chinook belt.

Although the chinook is felt throughout at least ten degrees of latitude on the Canadian side of the international boundary, its force and effect are varied somewhat by the nature of the mountains over which it passes on its way from the Coast and as well by the elevation and other conditions of the country east of the mountains. In the southerly part of Alberta, including the drainage basin of the Bow river and the streams further south, a region extending northerly from the international boundary for about 200 miles, the chinook blows strongly and frequently, the country is at a moderately high elevation above the sea, and here is the ranching country of Canada. The winters are short, and greatly broken by the chinook. The snow never lies for long, and the pasture on the prairie the year around. At the winter snowfall is light, so the summer rainfall is light, and consequently the characteristic of the pasturage is short, but very nutritious grass, which is a good feed in winter as summer. Further north for two hundred miles or more in the drainage basin of the Red Deer and the Saskatchewan, the chinook is still the great feature of the winter climate, but blows less strength. The country is at a lower elevation, it is partially covered with having a parklike appearance. The winters are more regular, and the snowfall more assured than in the country further south. In the summer also there is a more assured rainfall and the shelter of the growing timber prevents the sweep of the wind, which further south clears off the snow in winter, and dries out the ground in summer. Here is the ideal dairying and mixed farming district of Canada, and here is where dairying has been brought to its greatest pitch of perfection in the Dominion. A country of running streams, of sloping hillsides, and shallow valleys, of clumps of timber and stretches of prairie, of young grass and rich soil, sheltered from wind and storm, and of assured winter and pleasant summer, a great part of it is within aught of the magnificent Rockies themselves. The climate, elevation and the conditions generally tend to the greatest vigor of the human body and mind, as well as to the greatest perfection of animal life. Here is surely a country to be desired, and to which people may come feeling that they have made a choice which shall stand good for generations.

Nothing further need be said to establish the desirability of the natural conditions of this part of the chinook belt. The only question that needs to be answered is: Will dairying and mixed farming pay as well as wheat farming? This is a question that is most easily answered, and can best be answered by comparison with the eastern provinces of Canada, and in the more easterly part of the U.S. In these regions, when the land has ceased to be profitable for wheat, but while it still represented a vast investment of capital it was found by experiment, demonstrated by results, that land at $100 per acre, which could not be made to pay in raising wheat, could be made to yield a handsome profit in dairying and mixed farming. The natural conditions for dairying and mixed farming in North Alberta are more favorable than they ever were or ever could be in the regions mentioned. The greater variety of pasturage, the sweeter grass because of the higher elevation, the coolness of the summer nights, the more pleasant winter weather, the abundance of cool water, the inexhaustible and inexhaustible soil, the free pasture, and unlimited hay, place the dairy farmer of Alberta on land costing nothing as a homestead, and five to ten dollars if purchased, in a better position, beyond all comparison, than his competitor in the East, working on land, costing him one hundred dollars an acre; while the difference of the freight rates to the ultimate market, where that market may be assumed to be practically nothing. Butter or beef for export to Britain, is worth with a fraction of a cent a pound, in Alberta what it is in Ontario. To sum up: Dairying is the most profitable branch of farming in Ontario and the more easterly states. The conditions are incomparably better in Alberta than there and the land costs from one-tenth to a hundredth part of the price.

The following table shows the number of patrons, pounds of butter, cost per pound, etc., of the various government creameries in Alberta during the summer season of 1902.

W. H. HOOPER COMPANY

OFFERS ON

MONDAY, MAY 4TH, 1903,

200 LOTS - 50 X 150

ON

Kenneth Macdonald Flats

The Finest Alluvial Soil on Earth.

On each Lot enough may be grown to support a family.

The property adjoins Little's brick yard on the South, the Experimental Farm on the North, and overlooks the Saskatchewan on the East.

The opposite bank of the river, rising in natural terraces from the water's edge to an average height of 150 feet, beautifully wooded, affords A PANORAMA OF HARMONY AND DELIGHT.

Edmonton has passed the experimental stage, and will possess in a few years a metropolitan population.

The Railway Question is settled. The Canadian Pacific, Grand Trunk and Canadian Northern are assured quantities.

A fact not generally known substantiates that Edmonton will be a terminus for some years, is that the carrying capacity of the Canadian Pacific exceeds the Oriental and British Columbian trades combined, and the three great roads mentioned will halt before pushing on to the Pacific, thereby making our city of vastly more importance than it would otherwise have been.

Much of the timber is primeval. The principal streets will be boulevarded, and ancient growth furnish overshade.

Maps and schedules of prices open for inspection at W. H. Hooper Company's Office on May 4, 1903.

WINNIPEG MARKETS

Commercial, April 18.—OATS.—It is difficult to present a useful view of the oat market at present. It is weak and unsettled. The warm weather, coupled with a slow eastern demand has produced this effect. It is generally believed that there are a lot of oats still in the country and that when seeding is over these will come out pretty freely. Dealers are not willing to buy for more than immediate requirements. The only bullish feature is the large demand from new settlers in all parts of the west. No 1 white in car lots on track are worth 31 to 32c per bushel. No 2 white, 28 1/2 to 30c, and feed grades, 22 to 28c. Seed oats are worth 35c per bushel.

Barley.—Prices are unchanged from a week ago at 38c for cars of no. 3 barley, Port William. Dealers are offering 38c per bushel for delivery after the opening of navigation. About 36 1/2c is the value for sp. in car lots on track.

Wheat.—Local market.—There has been a quiet trade doing in Manitoba wheat at firm prices and the value has been advanced from 70c for No. 1 hard at the beginning of the week to 76 1/2c yesterday. At the close of business yesterday we quote values: 1 hard, 76 1/2c; 2 northern, 75c; 2 northern, 72 1/2c; 3 northern, 69 1/2c; sp., April or May delivery, in store, for William, Port Arthur or Duluth.

200 = LOTS = 200

A portion of the ROWLAND ESTATE, otherwise known as "THE SYNDICATE."

Plans and Prices can be seen at the Office on and after the date mentioned.

This is the closest and best property available, and the choicest in and about Edmonton. The furthest part is from 10 to 15 minutes from the post office. The property is eminently the people's portion: is not controlled by a policy of inertia dictated by "Hebraic Hatred." The surveys conform to existing ones, and the streets will be projected to their legitimate confines. Building Sites on the verge of the hill overlooking the mighty Saskatchewan, the foliage and verdure of whose banks is not exceeded by the fiercest tropics or softest Pacific scenes, abound. Prices will be uniform and moderate, tempered as a corrective of the present indefinite craze.

TERMS.—One third Cash. Balance 6 and 12 months, interest 8 per cent. Agreements $2 each, transfers free.

W. H. HOOPER COMPANY

REAL ESTATE. EDMONTON.

EDMONTON'S FARMER DELEGATE
The following notice of the visit of Mr. John Kennedy to Belfast, Ireland, and vicinity, as a member of the party of farmer delegates organized by Mr. Smart, deputy minister of the interior, appears in the Belfast Telegraph of March 27th, under the heading "A Colonial Delegate From the Far North-west."

Mr. John Kennedy, of Edmonton, Alberta, is a typical colonial, and in selecting him as one of the delegates to visit this country, the Canadian Government made a wise choice. He is enthusiastic in his praises of the Dominion, and particularly that part of it which he calls home; but, it is enthusiasm of that quiet sort, that convinces rather than wastes itself in interesting but useless rhetoric. There is no possibility of mistaking his vocation in life. He is not fond of the conventionalities of dress and those who have interviewed him since his arrival in Belfast—and they number hundreds—found him attired precisely as they would have done had they called on him in his own premises instead of at Queen's Square. Mr. Kennedy is of splendid physique. Of considerably over the average height, he is built in proportion, and when the soft hat is laid aside, looks more of a Viking than a farmer. Born of Irish parentage in Ontario, between fifty and sixty years ago, he has spent all his life in Canada, and affirms that had any one assured him two days before being approached by the Minister of the Interior, that he would ever visit England, he would have smiled at the absurdity of the suggestion. Ontario, in his young days, was a very different country from the region to which he now invites the settler. The land was still unclaimed, and the emigrant had to wrestle with the forest before he could sow his crops. They would hardly then huddled at night around the settler's cabin, and by way of comfort, civilization about as effectively as it was possible for any one to be.

In time the youthful colonial struck out for himself, and twice he pioneered in Ontario before striking towards Alberta. Then he moved westward, to Medicine Hat, and took to mixed farming. Finding, however, that the country was better suited for ranching than for his particular line of life, he set out once more to explore for himself, and, by means of the compass, found his way four hundred miles northwards across the prairie until he struck the Edmonton district. That was thirteen years ago, and since then he has remained here, since, through the view of the American invasion and the high prices for land now prevailing in that district, it not inconceivable that he may strike a bargain and again trek northwards towards the rich territories of the Peace river. Mr. Kennedy owns one of the largest mixed farms in Alberta, farming no fewer than 1040 acres, and as he is his own landlord, the Irish farmer who is dual owner of a title of the extent of land, and is not on speaking terms with the other parties may well envy him prosperity. To Mr. Kennedy there is no land like the North-west, and what he has done his maintain can be accomplished by any man who will work, and who is possessed of ordinary intelligence. Since his arrival in Ireland, Mr. Kennedy has addressed meetings in all parts of the north, while, as has been already stated, hundreds more have interviewed him in the offices in Queen's Square. His return to Canada, at the end of this week, but it will probably be found that he has been not by any means the least successful of the delegates, and, in the near future, his Government may again seek his services as emigration agent. Mr. Kennedy's personality, and the plain, unvarnished tale he has to tell, have probably done more than the literature of the Government to fill the hearts of the outgoing liners.
